

PRIOR'S FIELD SCHOOL

Teacher of Music and Music Technology

Job Description and Department Information

Music makes a major contribution to school life and the aims of the Music Department reflect this:

- To develop a love and understanding of music which will provide lifelong, personal enrichment.
- To ensure that every pupil acquires musical literacy sufficient to her needs and ability.
- To give every pupil the opportunity to experience the satisfaction and pleasure of participating in music through listening and appraising, performing and composing.
- To provide every pupil with the opportunity, within the bounds of her ability, to sing, to learn to play the piano or a chosen orchestral instrument and to benchmark her achievement through examinations and public performance.
- To develop in each pupil the values of co-operation and interaction within group within group musical activity, by providing and nurturing school and form choirs, orchestras, ensembles, jazz bands, chamber music, Rock and Pop bands etc.
- To foster self-discipline, responsibility and self-awareness, through the experience of gaining musical skills and striving for perfection, so that each pupil can realise her full potential as an individual in the community.

The music staff of specialist teachers provide musical education throughout the school and all have appropriate instrumental performing and instrumental teaching skills. For those engaged in Curriculum work, appropriate class teaching skills.

There are currently a large number peripatetic music teachers and around 50% of students take individual music lessons. Music is taught at KS3, GCSE and A Level (both Edexcel). BTEC Music Technology is also taught. Elements of Music Technology are also included as part of the KS3 curriculum.
