

Visiting Music Teacher: Recorder

Contract: Self-employed

Hours: Part-time

Required from: As soon as possible

We are seeking a skilled recorder player with first-rate teaching and communication skills to join our team of self-employed Visiting Music Teachers as soon as possible.

In this post, you will play a crucial role in developing the talents of our young recorder players, working alongside the Music department. We envisage being able to offer around four hours' worth of teaching in the first instance, split across our Senior and Prep schools. An additional opportunity to supplement the teaching timetable by running a co-curricular ensemble at the Senior school may also be available for the right candidate.

Our recorder students often achieve highly in graded examinations, and a number go on to use the instrument as their performance focus at GCSE and A-level.

Music at Streatham & Clapham High School

Music is at the heart of Streatham & Clapham High School and the department is going from strength to strength. A significant number of pupils take instrumental lessons and are part of one or more co-curricular ensembles. Singing is particularly popular with our pupils, and we currently have a team of six singing teachers. Our auditioned Chamber Choir regularly performs evensong at Cathedrals and Oxbridge colleges, and we have recently toured to Spain and Belgium. We have three other choirs; Schola Cantorum (a small, auditioned group), Madeleine Dring Consort (an auditioned group of KS3 pupils), and Metrophonics (a non-auditioned group which tackle lighter repertoire and is hugely popular amongst our KS3 pupils). We firmly believe that musical excellence stems from the enjoyment of music-making and aim to provide every musician with opportunities to perform, whether as soloists or in ensembles.

As well as the dedicated Music Department, Streatham & Clapham High School has several high-quality performance spaces, including the recently built Madeleine Dring Hall. We offer extensive opportunities for pupils to perform, both within school and at external events, and regularly collaborate with professional musicians to enrich their musical experiences.
